Ice storm breaks trees and wires

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Ice—the worst scourge of winter—moved into the Quad-City area during the weekend, snapping power lines by the hundreds, breaking tree limbs by the thousands, uprooting large trees and playing havoc generally with traffic movements.

The ice storm created conditions even worse than those of the severe winters of the last three years because of power outages—many of them of long duration—which caused householders throughout the area to shiver in homes which had no heat or lights.

Power lines broke so rapidly after the ice accumulation began developing Sunday morning that utility repair crews had no hope of keeping up with the calls from worried residents throughout the Quad-City area.

The Illinois Power Co. not only called to work every available lineman, but brought in emergency crews from Galesburg and assigned a number of "contract crews" to the job of repairing broken power lines, many of them caused by falling tree limbs that broke connections between homes and their power sources.

"We would send out a crew on one job and get a dozen calls before that one was completed," Carl Mathias, Granite City area service manager of Illinois Power Co., told the Press-Record.

The police and fire departments were deluged by calls Sunday beginning shortly before 10 a.m. as the ice buildup began reaching a weight that the lines could no longer handle. Many of the line breaks were dangerous. Many of them were "hot lines" and began arcing after hitting the ground.

Mathias said the number of calls received to report broken power lines "was in the thousands" from Sunday morning through the late hours of Sunday night. He said a crew of seven persons took calls throughout the period "and there never was a lull." He said the thousands of calls received by Illinois Power during the worst of the period was "only part of those who tried to reach us, but couldn't."

From 10:13 a.m. Sunday to 10:02 p.m., the Granite City Fire Department received a total of 163 calls concerning broken power lines and, in the excitement of the callers, requests for firefighting equipment, according to Don Parente, fire chief.

In 13 of these instances, Parente said, equipment was sent to stand by in the event that hot lines might result in a fire. In several instances, fire did develop.

Broken tree limbs and in some instances fallen trees that became overweighed with accumulating ice kept police on the run in a series of reports that lasted through Monday, although requests for help began falling off after noon Monday.

At that point, although light snow flurries were continuing, the greatest dread was for rising winds. With power lines and tree limbs still coated with heavy layers of ice, a high wind "could give us the same thing all over again," Mathias said.

The wind was about 15 miles per hour by mid-afternoon Monday. A wind of 25 to 30 miles an hour could start power lines "dancing" and cause additional innumerable breaks, according to Mathias.

weight to break many. The falling trees and branches caused many power outages throughout the Quad-City area. Snow on Monday followed the New Year's Eve ice.

Mitchell, Madison fires

By MICK STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

Fire of undetermined origin, but believed to have been started by a broken power line, destroyed a $50,000 home on Sand Road, four miles north of Mitchell. It also destroyed a nearby mobile home and damaged a third residence at 10:20 a.m. Monday.

In another blaze in the ice-plagued Quad-City area, a two-story frame house at 1518 Fifth St., Madison, was destroyed by fire today.

The Madison fire department was called out at 1:30 this morning and was at the scene until 7:30.

Three firemen were injured in Quad-City area weekend fires.

Harold Koelker, a Venice fireman, hurt his arm and elbow and was treated and released at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Under a mutual aid pact, Venice firemen assisted the Madison firefighters from 2:30 a.m. until 5:15 a.m. today. The fire loss was estimated at a minimum of $25,000.

The home had nine rooms and two baths and was divided into three apartments. One apartment was emp-

Storm emergency calls

Hundreds of telephone calls inundated the police, street and fire departments of Granite City, Madison and Venice as the weekend ice storm moved into the Quad-City area, resulting in breaking tree limbs and power lines that left many hundreds of homes without lights or heat.

Granite City police began receiving calls at 9:40 a.m. Sunday as ice began building up on power lines, brush and shrubbery.

The ice buildup began snapping tree limbs which fell across power lines in yards between homes and their power sources at utility poles. In some instances, the poles themselves became so heavily laden with ice that they fell to the ground.

The first calls logged at 9:40 a.m. were to Ferguson Avenue (no address given) where a pole and wires were reported down and, at the same time to Maple Street (also no address given) where a tree had fallen across the street.

Six minutes later, police were called about a tree that had fallen across the street at 2031 Missouri Avenue.

Family finds help from 'a lot of good people'

Things are better now. There are warm beds and clean clothes for Alan, Beverly and two-year-old Kristophor Mifflin. The ordeal of spending the holidays in their broken down old car is over, thanks to the efforts of many caring people.

The Mifflins arrived in Granite City on Christmas Day, broke and with little to be merry about.

They were "adopted" by the people who work at the International House of Pancakes when they walked into the Granite City restaurant looking for employment. Alan was given a job and the family was fed.

They were allowed to park their car on the restaurant's parking lot and use the building for warmth and protection. They were allowed to charge their meals.

But there was no place for the Mifflins to sleep, no home. They had hoped that the uncles they had in the area would be able to help.

But after spending one night with one and the next night with the other, the

Ice storm

While most of the breaks involved individual outages caused by broken lines between residences and power poles, one major outage in which all of the north end of Granite City was without power developed at 4 p.m. Sunday.

A notation in the Granite City police log at that time said, "1600 hours (4 p.m.) power out North End. Everything down in city. Emergency crews working as best as possible. Power ringing off the hook."

Half an hour later, the police dispatcher made a log entry that said, "No water, North End," and then added, "What else?"

Fire Chief Parente said that calls came so rapidly as power lines began breaking, that firefighters at the Nameki station house at Richmond Avenue and Johnson Road station left the fire house at 4 p.m. and were unable to return until 7:15.

"As the firemen completed one call, the station relayed another by radio and the trucks were kept busy running from one call to another as they fought against the possibility of fire," Parente related.

Mathias said the general outage in the north section of Granite City cut out power (heat and lights) to approximately 800 residences and the business buildings in the Nameki Shopping area. Most were without power for two to three hours.

He said that outage developed when a line from the Granite City Army Installation that extends to the Pentagon, snapped, causing the power company to cut off that line.

Monday afternoon, because of some 200 to 300 residential outages, and unprepared, Mathias said Illinois Power was calling in additional repair crews from Danville and Peoria in an effort to "clean up all breaks by this morning," assuming the situation remained as it "now is," Mathias said Monday afternoon.

Some problems — those in which the "meter loops" were torn from the houses by the impact of falling lines or tree limbs — may take longer to solve.

Mathias said, explaining that the meter loops are part of the household equipment and must be provided by the homeowner.

"Where we find these meter loops gone or damaged we can't make a connection because of the danger of fire. These loops must be repaired by the homeowner, and we can't make a connection until they are," he said. "In these instances, we must wait for the homeowners to have the repairs made," he explained.

In an effort to repair line breaks as rapidly as possible, Mathias said, "We separated all calls into separate sections and assigned work crews within those sections so they could go from one job to another as rapidly as possible without running over all parts of the area."

He said the repair crews made every repair call as soon as possible.

"There are some who say we took the telephone off the hook because they couldn't reach us, but that isn't true. We answered every call as they came in, but I know there were many who couldn't reach us because of the flood of calls," he added.

The ice on streets and highways slowed traffic Sunday although major highways, due to efforts of the Illinois State Highway Department, were open generally. Side streets were slippery but the overall traffic problem was relieved considerably by the New Year's holiday. There was little traffic on the highways Sunday and Monday.

Similar conditions were reported throughout the Madison-St. Clair region as the ice storm moved in from the west. Power line breaks and falling tree limbs plagued Belleville, O'Fallon, Edwardsville and Collinsville.

Mathias said he was told the icing conditions were general throughout much of Illinois with conditions similar to those here occurring in Decatur, Springfield, Peoria and other communities.

At 10:10 a.m. Monday, neighbors asked Granite City officers to talk to an elderly couple in the 2800 block of Cayuga St., who refused to leave their home, even though there was no power or heat.

Officers talked them into going across the street to a neighbor's home until the power could be restored. Two officers assisted them in crossing the icy street to a place of warmth.

Lionel Portell, Granite City street superintendent, said he called out 12 men Sunday about 10 a.m., as reports began coming in about falling tree limbs.

Working in crews on trucks, the workers cleared fallen limbs from streets until 3 a.m. Monday, Portell said. The crews returned to work at 11 a.m. Monday and worked until midnight, Portell said.

Portell said approximately 75 streets were blocked by fallen trees or limbs during the worst of the period.

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. officials said about 600 to 800 individual telephones were knocked out of service during the storm, most by ice-covered tree limbs falling over wires going into the homes.

Grews have been brought in from Quincy, Champaign, Decatur and other areas where damage was less severe and are working overtime shifts to repair the downed lines. However, it may be Thursday before all telephones are restored, according to Ken Evers, area manager for Illinois Bell.

"Thus far, we have had more than 800 trouble calls received and I feel strongly that about 600 of those are out of service. The number might increase as people who left their homes for lack of power begin returning and discover the phone wires also are down."

In some yards, the power lines are on top of the phone lines and we cannot do anything there until the power lines are repaired.

"We are optimistic we will have everything restored by Wednesday or Thursday, but much will depend on the weather," he added. "It was a heavy storm, but fortunately, there were no major cable problems and damage was limited to individual residences."

Forum on tax revolt

"Alternatives to Tax Revolt: The Changing Face of Local Finance" is the title of a one-day official public forum to be held Thursday, Jan. 25, at the Collinsville Holiday Inn, 170 and Illinois St. 157.

At the forum, public officials, citizens and educators will gather to explore aspects of the tax revolt phenomenon. Participants will discuss alternatives to the drastic tax-cut approach represented by California's Proposition 13 and similar measures.

The forum will feature three panels, the first of which will examine the consequences of tax revolt itself.

The second panel will explore local sources of revenue, improving the property tax system and other alternatives. And the third will look at ways to

Minimum pay, Social Security cost higher

With the start of 1979, minimum hourly pay has risen from $2.65 to $2.90, and the Social Security payroll tax has climbed from 6.05 percent of income to 6.13 percent.

The Social Security increase will be less than 10 cents weekly at the $6,000 annual income level and only 15 cents at $10,000.

But the wage base is up from $17,700 to $22,900 — and workers will pay $42.90 in 1979 will be for those earning $22,900 or more — a $332 increase from $1,070 to $1,408. Slight income tax cuts also are going into effect.

Both Madison and St. Clair counties opposed the increase at the last East-West meeting, but we lost the vote. They say if we don't cooperate, we won't be eligible for federal funds," Hagauer noted in requesting approval of the assessment.

East-West has been selected by the federal government as the regional "clearing house" for grant applications.

Ambulance stolen, returned

A thief stole a 1965 Cadillac ambulance owned by the Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave., apparently damaged it in the driveway, but that he did not know how the car was started because he has the only available set of keys.

The right rear door of the vehicle was damaged, apparently in striking a pole in the alley between Madison Avenue and Grand Avenue, authorities said, because the car was damaged and pieces of paint from the ambulance were found on the pole.

The ambulance apparently was returned late Thursday night or early Friday morning, the report said.

Michael Mahoney, executive director of the John Howard Association prison reform group, on Friday assailed the firing of Charles Rowe as head of the Illinois prison system, saying that riots and killings resulted from a history of neglect of prisons, combined with an increase in cellblock gangs and changes in the types of inmates.

Paper handlers rejected Sunday a tentative contract for the holiday with the Post Dispatch. Dock hands also remain on strike. The two St. Louis daily newspapers haven't published since Nov. 20.

The Illinois Commerce Commission on Friday ordered a study of whether nuclear power plants being built at Byron and Braidwood are necessary.

Chrysler raised auto prices $85 today.

New York weekend traffic deaths reached 346, including eight in Illinois.

Runaway free use a national toll-free hotline, 800-231-6946, to notify their relatives they are among the growing number of victims being found at the home of John Wayne Gacy in the Chicago area. Twenty-nine boys' bodies have been located.

Objection to fee hike fails

The Madison County Board has agreed, reluctantly, to pay its annual "dues" of $22,581 to the Eastern Gateway Coordinating Council.

During the board's last meeting, County Board Chairman Nelson Hagauer of Granite City noted this year's assessment for membership in the council is $22,581 per capita (resident) higher than in previous years.

Both Madison and St. Clair counties opposed the increase at the last East-West meeting, but we lost the vote. They say if we don't cooperate, we won't be eligible for federal funds," Hagauer noted in requesting approval of the assessment.

Court ruling would cost city $42,898

The Fifth District Appellate Court at Mount Vernon has sustained a lower court ruling that Robert Harris, a former Granite City fireman, should receive disability payments totaling the full amount of his salary at the time he retired because of a heart attack in 1972.

Ervin Slate Jr., assistant city attorney who handled the case in the Circuit Court and the appeal to the Appellate Court, told members of the City Council in a caucus session last week that the ruling will cost the city $42,898 in retroactive pay unless a reversal is possible.

The total salary payments of $42,898 would bring the payments up to date as of Dec. 31, Slate said, noting that the city also must begin paying a monthly salary difference of $24 per month during January.

After citing two alternatives — a petition to the Appellate Court to rehear the case or a request to the Illinois Supreme Court to hear the matter — Slate told 11g aldermen that he personally does not believe the

$7,800 damage in garage fire

Fire, believed started by a wood-burning stove overheating, destroyed the garage and pickup truck of George Dagon, 2233 Monroe St., at 8 p.m. Monday.

The wagon told firemen he left the garage for about 30 minutes to eat supper and his wife saw the flames from the back of the garage. Firemen braved the cold and ice for about 45 minutes, attempting to save the garage, but were unsuccessful as the flames quickly spread from the rear to the front and destroyed Dagon's 1964 Chevrolet pickup truck inside.

Damage to the building was $7,000 to the building and $800 to its contents, including the truck.

Pension OK'd

The Granite City Firemen's Pension Board voted 6-2 Thursday to grant former Assistant Fire Chief Charles Hileman his full pension of $1,020 per month.

The vote ends court and pension fights which have been pending since 1977.

Licenses — white and Illinois College blue

Issuance of the blue and white multi-year Illinois license plates for 1979 is an historic occasion in more ways than one, Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon believes.

The new plates mark the inauguration of the Dixon-sponsored multi-year, staggered registration program that will save Illinois an estimated $21 million over the next five years.

And if that's not history enough, the blue and white color of the plates honors Illinois College of Jacksonville, the first college in the state to graduate a class, in 1835, and which in 1979 will celebrate 150 years of existence.

"When we were discussing colors for the multi-year plates, it was pointed out that Illinois College was founded in 1829, and would be celebrating its sesquicentennial in 1979," Secretary Dixon said.

"The tie between Illinois the state and Illinois College is strengthened by the fact that the first graduate of Illinois College, in 1835, was our Civil War governor, Richard Yates."

Many other historical figures had roots in Illinois College.

William Jennings Bryan became the Democratic candidate for the U.S. presidency just 15 years after he graduated in 1881. While no college may lay claim to the self-educated Abraham Lincoln, he was a lecturer on the campus. And it is known that William Berry, his partner at New Salem, William H. Herndon, his law partner, and Ann Rutledge's brother, David, all attended Illinois College.

"The number and the prominence of alumni serving their state and nation in the years of the 19th and 20th centuries is out of all proportion to the relatively small enrollment of Illinois College," Secretary Dixon said.

"For a century and a half, this historic institution has provided a fountain for those who thirst for knowledge, and its founders envisioned. It honors me to honor Illinois College."

Illinois College's current enrollment of about 800 is closely controlled by its president, Dr. Donald Mundinger. "A basic strength of Illinois College is its large productive endowment," Dr. Mundinger said.

"Each year, the returns from the endowment plus gifts from alumni, parents, friends, businesses and industries, churches and foundations make possible lower costs for students than would otherwise be possible."

Illinois College shares "oldest college" honors in Illinois with McKendree College in Lebanon. McKendree was established as an institution in 1829, but Illinois College was the first to grant baccalaureate degrees (1835).

"It depends on how you define college as opposed to an academy or prep school," Dr. Mundinger said.

Whatever history's perspective, the blue and white Illinois license plates for the next five years will honor the "Blueboys."

Kirkpatrick seniors' club honors officers

Plans reviewed at a meeting of the Community Development Committee at the Alton Senior Citizens Center and the possibility of reviving the visiting nurse program for seniors were topics heard by the Kirkpatrick Golden Age Circle Club last week.

The group met in the Kirkpatrick Recreation Center with Mrs. Ruby Corbitt, president, in charge of the birthday meeting and business session.

Congratulations on their birthday anniversaries were Mrs. Lumeta Durbin and Mrs. Evelyn David.

Edgar Paddock, who attended the meeting in Alton, discussed aspects of the community development project. He also said plans to revive the visiting nurse program still are uncertain.

Mrs. Corbitt, who is retiring as president, was presented a gift by Paddock on behalf of the club.

Other retiring officers also received gifts.

They are: Mrs. Caroline Lux, vice president; Mrs. Lumeta Durbin, secretary; and Mrs. Peggy Gibbons, treasurer.

It was announced that Mrs. Juanita Crawley will be installed as the club's new president at the Jan. 9 meeting.

Dave Morgan, executive director of the Granite City Housing Authority, will serve as installing officer.

Venice hires teacher aide

The Venice School Board last week hired Miss Mary White as a teacher's aide at the first-grade level. She will receive $3.05 per hour for a 35-hour week. Her salary also is reimbursable through the WIN program.

Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers said there are 64 pupils in the first grade and two teachers. Miss White is replacing Title VII aides, whose services were terminated when those funds were reduced this year.

An evaluation of the Venice district's financial plight made by the Illinois Office of Education corroborated the conclusions reached earlier by the school board that reduction of expenditures is a key to keeping the schools open.

The report from Fred Bradshaw, director of finance, grants and reimbursement for the state education office, offered no specific recommendations, but suggested the Venice district look into second-year anticipation warrants and funding bonds for short-term help.

It noted, however, the district cannot buy its way out of debt, therefore measures must be instituted to reduce some expenses and operational costs.

Venice fitness registration

Belleville Area College's Venice extension center reminding the public that it is offering a physical fitness course to Venice residents for the upcoming 1979 spring semester.

Registration for the fitness class has been set for Jan. 9, 9 and 10 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Venice High School guidance office. BAC Venice coordinator is Albert Schaefer, 877-6910.

2 charged in rail car theft

Edward McClellan, 18, of 146 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, and Edward Freeman, 19, of 807 Washington Ave., Madison, were released Tuesday, each on $1,500 recognizance bonds. Both are charged with theft from an Illinois Central Gulf railroad car.

Acting upon a tip, Venice officers intercepted a vehicle at Third and Webster streets in West Madison last week and confiscated a number of items in the trunk, including 14 packs of bath sponges, two decorator frames, four hair roller sets, two children's ironing sets, a box of plastic cars, a toilet training chair, a 1/4-inch drill and two CB radios.

Police went to a Venice residence and recovered items from the living room: four brown leather cases, two boxes of 23 rolls each of RoyalCraft lining paper, two toilet training chairs, a Hindu incense statue, 18 mini-mod fashion outfits, two packages of bath sponges, seven children's ironing sets and 10 packages of Happy Hour party hats, each pack holding 10 hats.

Kath Guerin, leisure activities coordinator, said displays of winter sports equipment and films of popular winter sports activities will be shown in Goshen Lounge of the University Center Jan. 11 from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Venice may cut back faculty in 1978-79

Serious cutbacks in staff may be in store next year for the Venice School District as one measure of reducing operating expenses.

Since the 95 cents per $100 rate increase referendum failed to gain voter approval Dec. 16, specific courses of action must be taken to reduce overall operating costs, the board has stated.

The Venice Board of Education, meeting last month, discussed the feasibility of functioning adequately with a reduction in faculty and other staff members, should alternative methods of securing funds continue to prove elusive.

In other business, the board hired the first woman custodian to work in the Venice School District, replacing Ron Brawley, who has resigned.

Mrs. Billie Mottern, 304 Kerr St., Venice, was hired for regular custodial duties through the Work Incentive program (WIN) at no cost to the district for the first year of employment.

The new employee will be paid at the regular rate of $5.01 per hour for a 40 hour week. Five candidates were interviewed by the board's personnel committee before Mrs. Mottern was selected.

Mrs. Mottern formerly worked at the Bemis Co. bag plant in St. Louis and as a nurse aide at a hospital.

Family finds

The situation went along in this manner until Friday morning, when Patrolman Dave Polivick of the Granite City Police Department came into I-Hop to eat and heard of the family.

Polivick made the first phone calls that brought the family to the attention of the entire area. He called Catholic Charities, which in turn called Don Szymula, who is with the Granite City field office of the Illinois State Department of Children and Family Services. The news media was also called, including the Press-Record.

Phone calls began flying as agencies were called and word got around that the family needed help, and soon. The temperature was due to drop and the Milffins needed a warm place to stay.

Szymula could offer the child a temporary foster home, but no help for the parents. Being a compassionate man, he stayed around, trying to find some way for the family to stay together. He was hoping that a way could be found for the family to stay with his mother and father.

Telephone calls continued to fly. Catholic Charities provided a food order, so the family would have provisions wherever it wound up.

The Salvation Army offered the St. Louis shelter, an offer which was refused because the car wouldn't make the trip. Playday morning, a mother and child to Alton's Oasis Center, which provides accommodations for women and children in crisis. The father was to stay at the Tri-City Area YMCA.

Among the hundreds of phone calls, one was made to Channel 2 news. The story broke there at 5 p.m. on Friday, after all of the agencies in the area were closed for the New Year's holiday. A plea for help for the family went out on the air and calls were taken by a Press-Record reporter, who had been on the assignment since Friday morning.

The Harold Conner family, of Granite City, heard the story and went to I-Hop to offer help. Beverly and Kristopher were picked up in Alton and the family spent Friday night together, thanks to the kindness of the Conners.

All that evening and the next day calls poured in. The Granite City Jaycees gave them a starter for the old car. People offered their homes and their hearts. Some sent money for the family, some offered jobs, some offered to fix the car, and some offered clothes.

Two St. Louis gentlemen paid for a total of eight days lodging at the Travelodge, a downtown Granite City motel.

The overall response was tremendous.

The Milffins were taken to the Travelodge, where they remain today. Alan is still working at the pancake house and Beverly is scheduled to start working there at 10 tonight.

Kristopher is sleeping in a big, warm bed with his toys provided by the children of Jaycee president Danny Poston. Money is coming in, and the Milffins will have a home before they get their first payday.

They have had lots of visitors, the Conner family being the most frequent. Harold Conner helped Alan Milffin put the starter on the old car.

"I will be grateful to everyone who helped us for the rest of my life," he said. "I will be happy when the excitement dies down a little."

"It was embarrassing for me, since I have always used my own two hands to support my family. But it was a point when I couldn't do it alone. Now I can, thanks to the help of a lot of good people."

State clean water plans
The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has completed its initial planning efforts to guide activities for cleaning up water pollution in the state.

Meetings will be held throughout Illinois to inform the public about the plan and to encourage discussion of its contents.

Plans related to water pollution include urban stormwater, agriculture, municipal wastewater and standards.

A summary of the plan will be available in mid-January for public review prior to the meetings. Copies will be sent to those persons on the "Clean Water Horizon" and "Ag Task Force Newsletter" mailing lists.

Others interested in receiving a copy may contact the Illinois EPA at 217-782-3362.

Meeting locations will include Springfield Jan. 29 and Mount Vernon Feb. 13.

TELEVISION STOLEN
Pearl Kingsley, 2326 Winters Drive, reported at 9:45 p.m. Sunday that a television set was stolen from her home while she was next door visiting a neighbor who was ill.

Milffins took to the parking lot of the I-Hop restaurant, where they could be seen until Friday night, when they spent at a Granite City motel, thanks to the Salvation Army, but the family still had no home and no way to acquire one until it got a payday.

The Milffins came from Florida, where a series of events caused them to lose their jobs. Alan and Beverly had both worked at a restaurant in Lakeland, Fla. "We went apartment hunting that day, got lost, and then the car quit," explained Beverly.

When we called in, the manager fired us. Some friends of ours who worked at the same place then suggested that we help them get to Tennessee, where their relatives would help us get work. We had nowhere closer to go, so we went."

The relatives took the other couple in but turned the Milffins out after two days. With $29 in their pockets, they headed for Granite City, both having been born and raised here.

When they arrived, they had $1 each in their pockets. They went to the Granite City Samba hoping to get work. There was no work for the couple at that restaurant, so they went down the road to I-Hop.

The family was given food. The Milffins spent Christmas night with Beverly's uncle and his family and the next night with Alan's uncle and his family. Both households were filled with holiday guests and the Milffins didn't want to impose. They arranged to spend the next night at a Salvation Army facility in St. Louis.

The starter had gone out in their car about that time, however, so they spent the night in their car, without heat, parked behind the I-Hop restaurant.

"We didn't dare go anywhere for fear that we wouldn't be able to get Alan back to his job," Beverly Milffin said. "We took turns sleeping, using all but followed at 9:45 a.m. by a call to 2704 Iowa St. where a tree and power lines had fallen, and to 1420 Madison Ave., where a tree and power lines also were reported down.

Within the next 20 minutes police were told that a tree was down at Henry and East 24th streets at 10:05 a.m., a tree down at 24th and Oregon St. at 10:15 a.m. and another tree down at Nameoki Road and 27th Street where the road way was blocked.

At 10:40 a.m. a tree was reported down between 24th and 27th streets, with a traffic lane blocked. A tree was reported down at 24th Street and Delmar Avenue.

At 11:47 a.m. a tree was reported down at 24th Street and at 24th and Edwards and Kate Street, with power lines down at the same location. Lines were reported down and lying across the street at 24th and Birch St. at 11:51 a.m., followed five minutes later by a call that power lines had fallen at 2500 E. 23rd Street.

Lines were reported down at 3006 Myrtle Ave., at 12:46 p.m., and at 3220 Wayne Ave., at 1:05 p.m.

At 4 p.m. the outage in the north section of the city was reported, involving about 800 residences and all of the Nameoki area shipping center stores.

Lines were reported down at 3284 Rogers Ave., at 9:23 p.m.

Police also were plagued by a series of fire alarms at business establishments that were set off by the power failures. Officers responded to each of these, reporting that all of the places were secure.

While the Fire Department reported it received 165 calls concerning broken power lines during a 12-hour period beginning Sunday morning, equipment was dispatched to 13 of those to stand by in the event of fire, or to extinguish minor blazes that might develop from hot lines that had fallen.

Calls on which firefighting equipment was dispatched included 2581 Iowa St. at 11:39 a.m., 2415 Grand Ave. at 1:39 p.m., 2200 Lincoln Ave. at 1:53 p.m., 2331 E. 24th St. at 3:02 p.m., 2653 E. 23rd St. at 4:10 p.m. and 2801 Dale Ave. at 4:15 p.m.

All firefighting equipment turned out for a call to Nescio Steel Barrel at 4:10 p.m. because there was no fire, according to Fire Chief Don Parente who said firemen were on the scene 20 minutes.

At 4:18 p.m., firemen were called to 212 W. 20th St., and at 4:32 p.m. answered an alarm to 3123 Rodger Ave., where ice resulted in a power surge that caused damage to a furnace control.

A power surge caused by ice resulted in $500 damage to a compressor in an air conditioning unit at the home of Francis Cline, 2207 Lynch Ave., at 6 p.m. Sunday.

A tree fell on a power line at the home of Charles Myers, 2419 Grand Ave., at 6:04 p.m., resulting in an electrical shock that caused a fire extending into the floor joists of the main floor. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

At 9 p.m., a falling tree limb fell across the chimney at the home of Rich Dick, 2256 Waterman Ave., where it shut off the draft and caused a smoke problem. No damage was listed.

Madison police also reported a flood of calls concerning broken power lines and falling tree limbs and trees.

At 5:05 p.m. Sunday, Madison police delivered to Illinois Power Co. officials a list of 31 locations where power lines were reported broken, with an additional 12 reports received after that time.

During the same period, 25 calls were received about falling trees or broken tree limbs, police said.

The locations were scattered throughout the city and involved principally individual house lines that were broken by falling tree limbs.

Venice police reported they also were flooded with calls as power lines began breaking Sunday.

Over a period of several hours, Venice police received a total of 42 calls concerning line breaks and falling trees. Virtually all of the reports involved individual line breaks when falling tree limbs broke service lines between the homes and the utility poles.

One on John Johnson Drive, Division Street, Breckenridge Lane, B and Lake Street in Pontoon Beach were without power for periods of 24 hours due to the storm.

Two persons also reported tree limbs falling on their autos, causing damage.

Police reported a power line was across the road at 4200 Lake Drive.

Power lines also were knocked down by limbs in Kaseberg Lane, police said.

unknown object while fighting the fire. Both returned to the scene of the Mitchell area fire.

Mitchell Fire Chief Lee Paul said they are uncertain of the cause of the fires, but a power line was down and everytime the line arced, sparks came out of the house's electrical system.

The owner of the mobile home and other house have not yet been determined, nor have damage estimates been made.

The Mitchell chief said there also was a natural gas line leak that could have contributed to the fire.

Ice made fighting the fire difficult, due to slippery walking areas.

Mitchell firemen received the original call at 10:20 a.m. Monday and were at the scene with 19 firemen until about 3 p.m. with two pumps and an emergency truck.

Under mutual aid, Long Lake responded with 15 men and a pumper and tank truck.

Mitchell firemen were able to attach a hose to a small fire hydrant, while Long Lake hauled an additional 12,000 gallons of water in its tanker.

Resources, trends suggest bright future for this area

By KENNETH A. SHAW
President
Southern Illinois University

At Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, we have been actively involved in evaluating the area for the past quarter-century. We haven't just looked at ourselves as an educational resource available to the second most populous area in the state, but as a partner in progress with business, industry, labor and the professions. This has done a great deal for our growth as an institution.

From time to time recently, I've had occasion to describe a disease called "metro-sclerosis," which is not easy to say and even harder to cure.

What I referred to generally was the feeling that we tend to look down on ourselves, to downgrade what we have, and thereby to thwart our potential.

It seems we might have programmed our minds with a self-fulfilling prophecy for failure.

One hopeful sign for both the coming year and for the long-range future is that I don't feel that it's necessary to talk about this disease anymore.

There is a fresh burgeoning of local energy, accompanied by a bursting of regional pride that comes with realizing all our assets, seeing the Lock and Dam 26 Project set forward, and from the news that international corporations are taking a good look at the area.

In days to come, I think that outsiders who examine all the resources we have in place are going to like what they see.

Furthermore, I think that we are going to be recognized as full partners in a great region that transcends boundaries of local and state jurisdictions. Trends nationwide are turning our way, and it's up to us to make the most of them.

So let me offer Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville as the kind of focal point for all these efforts. We have everybody's best interests at heart. And well we might, because our strength and maturity have come about because of the generous support we have received from the citizenry of the great region we serve.

Tax group will meet Jan. 13

The Taxpayers Survival Association of Illinois (TSAI) will hold an organization meeting on Saturday, Jan. 13, in Room 114 of the State Capitol in Springfield, beginning at 2 p.m. Interested taxpayers are being invited to attend. TSAI says it is a grassroots, volunteer, citizen movement dedicated to passing a constitutional amendment to limit state and local taxation and spending.

Association spokesman Marvin L. France of Troy said, "A constitutional amendment, and not a law, should be ratified by the Illinois legislature and the voters in order that wishes of the citizens voting on Nov. 7 will be fulfilled."

"Taxpayers have learned, the hard way, how quickly a law can be adopted by state senators and representatives, as witnessed by the recent 40 percent pay raise bill. Laws are passed to govern people, and constitutions govern governments."

"A citizen-mandated tax and spending limit can govern the spending of state and local governments. The taxpayers have given state and local governments a blank check for years and now are demanding the right to countersign the check."

Snow removal service planned for disabled

Nelson Hagnauer, Granite City Township supervisor, today announced the start of a new snow removal program for handicapped and disabled senior citizens. Recalling the severe winters of the past two years, with many older persons sustaining injuries in falls on ice-covered sidewalks, prompted the concern to devise such a program, Hagnauer said.

"To determine if one qualifies for the service and also to establish snow removal route to be followed, senior residents of Granite City Township who are handicapped or disabled and wish to participate in the special service are invited to call 877-8584, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday."

Those calling will be asked to list their names and addresses. Other details concerning the program also may be secured by calling the same number.

Employees hired through the Manpower program will be utilized in the snow removal task, Hagnauer said. Seniors who are taken for hospital treatment and those in wheelchairs transported for other reasons via the specially equipped CHORBUS will be among the first included on the snow removal list.

The snow removal task force of workers will be on the job prior to the CHOR-

BUS arriving at a given residence along the established pickup route, Hagnauer said. Those interested in taking part are urged to register their names as soon as possible.

Meal ticket good as gold, 23 years later

By CATHEY JAMISON
Press-Record Staff Writer

"I have seen a truly honest man."

These words have been spoken a lot lately by Lawrence Petri, owner and operator of Petri's Cafe in downtown Granite City.

It seems a gentleman came into his place of business early last week to pay his bill. Nothing so unusual in that, except that the bill was 23 years old.

Back in 1955, the gentleman, whose name Petri could not recall, lived in Granite City — right around the corner from the cafe.

He and his wife and baby were having a difficult time of it. "They were really down on their luck," he said. "I felt sorry for them."

Petri wanted to help. At that time, he sold meal tickets at the cafe for $5. He gave the family ten of the tickets and told them to pay him when they could.

Sometimes shortly thereafter, the family moved away, leaving the debt unpaid. Petri chalked it off to experience and forgot about it until last week.

The man and his family had moved to Mexico City, where he prospered.

Unknown to Petri, the man had not forgotten the debt.

As the years passed, it lay heavily on his mind. He told himself that he would "go back to Mr. Petri's cafe and pay the $50" he owed.

That is exactly what the man did. He was bringing his daughter, who had studied in Mexico and is now a psychiatrist, back to the United States. She was born in the area and he wanted her to get some American work experience here.

So the man and his family came back to Granite City. He walked into Petri's Cafe and found the owner stand-ding near the cash register.

He asked Petri if he knew him. Petri said he knew the face but not the name.

The man told Petri that he was a man who had been helped 23 years ago and that he was there to pay the debt that he owed. And he did.

Petri was surprised and delighted because he had always thought highly of the man. "I knew he was an honorable person," Petri said, "but until that day, I never realized how honorable he was."

"Of course, I didn't know why he had never paid the bill. I didn't know what happened to him or his family."

"I am glad that he is doing well and I am glad that he came in. It kind of restores my faith in good, old-fashioned honesty."

So goes the tale of a truly honest man. Diogenes can extinguish his lantern.

Expand, improve services to handicapped youngsters

Federal approval of the State Board of Education's program plan for special education will provide expanded and improved services to handicapped children.

The Amended Annual Program Plan for special education services in Illinois has been approved by the U.S. Office of Education for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The plan was developed to bring Illinois in compliance with Part B of the Education of the Handicapped Act (Public Law 94-142).

State Superintendent of Education Joseph Cronin said Friday, "Approval of the state plan means another step has been taken to assure handicapped children in Illinois of a free, appropriate, public education."

HEW guidelines state that Part B of 94-142 funds will be used by local and state agencies to serve eligible children who are not currently receiving needed special education services, and to expand and improve present services for these children.

According to Joseph Fisher, assistant superintendent of the Illinois Office of Education's Department of Specialized Education Services, Illinois is one of only a few states to have a plan approved by HEW.

For the 1978-79 fiscal year, the state will receive about $34 million under Part B. The $34 million was anticipated in the current budget for special education and does not represent an increase in funds.

Copies of the state plan will be printed and made available from the Illinois Board of Education through regional school superintendents and members of the Illinois Office of Education's program service teams.

BARITONE RECITAL

A faculty recital, featuring the bass baritone voice of Leonard Van Camp, professor of music at SIUE and director of University choral activities, will be presented Friday, Jan. 5, at 8:15 p.m. in the Lovejoy Library auditorium. He will be assisted by SIUE accompanist Linda Perry; piano; associate professor of music Joseph Pival; cello; and senior music student Fred DeVaney, string bass.

Van Camp has selected a program of music from four centuries for the free, public program.

Zoning hearings set for Jan. 5

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will conduct two on-site public hearings in Chouteau and Nameoki townships Friday, Jan. 5, on requests for the placement of mobile homes.

The first hearing Jan. 5 will be at 10 a.m. in Chouteau Island where William and Peggy Worley and Charles McDowell are requesting a special use permit to place a double-wide mobile home in a flood-hazard area. The site can be reached by crossing the Chain of Rocks Canal Bridge to the first road on the left, then to the barricade and left past the first house on the right. It is in an agricultural district of Chouteau Township.

The second hearing will be at 10:35 a.m. Jan. 5 at 2001 Fifth St., East Madison, where Charles Van Vleet is requesting a special use permit to continue the placement of an existing mobile home, and a second permit to construct a two-car detached garage. The property is in an R-4 single-family residential district of Nameoki Township.

Hearing Tests Set For Senior Citizens

Granite City — Electronic hearing tests will be given at the new Beltone Hearing Aid Service branch office every Wednesday from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Factory-trained Hearing Aid Specialists will be at this branch office at Skotky's Jewelry & Card Shop, 1304 Niedringhaus, Granite City to perform the tests.

Anyone who has trouble hearing or understanding is welcome to have a test using the latest electronic equipment to determine if his loss is one which can be helped. Some of the causes of hearing loss will be explained, and diagrams of how the ear works will be shown.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out whether the latest mode of hearing correction can help them hear better.

The free hearing test will be given every Wednesday from 10:00 a.m. at Skotky's Jewelry & Card Shop, 1304 Niedringhaus, Granite City. If you can't get there on Wednesday, call 878-6414 and arrange for an appointment at another time. In-home testing is also available.

Surviving winter in Midwest

Weather forecasters predict another bitter winter in the Midwest.

Dr. Colette Rasmussen, associate medical director for the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Plan, recommends preventive measures that may help Illinoisans stay warm and healthy through the remainder of the winter season:

1. It's essential to dress warmly in cold weather, especially to avoid the chill and frostbite that can occur when winds and cold send the wind-chill index down to sub-zero temperatures.

The best way to stay warm outdoors is to bundle up in layers of clothing.

2. Layers tend to trap air and give the skin a warm buffer against the cold. Be sure to wear a hat because the body's heat will escape through your head unless it's covered.

3. Be sure not to expose skin to extremes — ears, nose and fingers — to the cold air for any length of time. Warm scarves, earmuffs and gloves are essential.

Any numbness or discomfort could be a sign of frostbite. So, be sure to keep moving and go indoors as soon as possible.

4. To avoid illness, follow the usual rules for good health — eat properly, exercise, and get enough rest. If you do get rundown and sick, it's best to stay home rather than spread the illness around.

5. For some persons, it's a good idea to get a flu shot. A flu shot is recommended for senior citizens, heart patients, diabetics and persons with lung disease.

QUESTION 3 BOYS

Granite City juvenile authorities are investigating reports that three boys, ages 12, 14 and 8, stole a truck from 18th and State streets last week, drove it to Festus, Mo., ran out of gasoline and stole another truck there to return to Granite City. The truck from Missouri was recovered in the 2200 block of Adams Street. The boys have been identified and ordered into custody before juvenile authorities.

More of Eastport annexed

The Collinsville City Council last week accepted a petition requesting annexation of 35 acres of Eastport Plaza, including five acres earmarked for the Illinois Department of Transportation District 11 headquarters.

The proposed annexation will put all Eastport Plaza's 126-plus acres inside the city. Eastport is located at Interstate 70 and Illinois 157.

Mayor Lewis Krause said he had informed the IDOT and Eastport developer Gary Fears that the city could not provide help with access roads to the IDOT site unless the land was in Collinsville's corporate limits.

Fears says he held off on requesting the annexation until the city passed its new zoning ordinance recently. Petitioners for annexation were Fears and E. C. Gitcho for Eastport Plaza Inc., and Florence Quatto, who owns a portion of the 35 acres and is selling it to Eastport.

The 35 acres, now zoned agricultural, will come into the city with B-4 (commercial) zoning.

Despite rumors, Fears said he has not been approached to provide more land for a larger IDOT building than that in the original plans. He is aware, though, that several additional agencies have asked to be housed in the IDOT headquarters.

Fears says the total of 30 acres donated for the headquarters is sufficient for a building twice the size of that originally planned. Eastport construction planned for 1979 includes a luxury hotel and more road work, Fears told a reporter.

The Lighter Side

By CATHEY JAMISON
Press-Record Feature Editor

Survives holidays, ready for warmth of springtime

I don't know about you, but I am glad that the holidays are over.

My house is a mess, tinsel and broken ornaments are still scattered about, the washing machine is lonely for lack of use, and I am ready to move out of the house into a nice clean one.

The boys are finally back in school, an idea that has not set well with them. Dennis is sure that someone is going to steal all of his new toys while he is away and Ross is still mad because there was no scout meeting during vacation.

No one is happy. I guess with all of the excitement of the season, some letdown was to be expected.

I am unhappy because my house looks like the day after an after-Christmas sale. The boys have their little problems and my husband keeps wandering around looking for his yacht. (The one I TOLD him he would not get for Christmas).

At the moment I feel as though I have only two things to look forward to, cleaning house and winter.

Cleaning the house will take my mind off of the other for a few weeks, but only because I intend to take my own sweet time getting the house together. After all, I am not expecting company for at least two and a half months.

Two things to look forward to — cleaning house and winter.

Company is one thing I don't need, even for a few hours. I have seen enough of friends and family to last me until March.

I really enjoyed all of the visitors I had over the holidays but I am so tired. Even after my vacation — another story — I will not feel rested until the warm weather is back.

Now, when I look out of my window, all I see is the bleakness of winter.

Ah, winter, the time of the year for head colds, raging fevers, and kids coming in carrying mud and water and snow to dirty the carpet that I will have just cleaned.

I have mornings to look forward to, with the cold air slapping me in the face as I leave the warmth of my bed. I am just too skinny to put up with the cold. My Michigan upbringing did little to help me survive winter. I am cold from November until May. Maybe we all will get off lucky this year and the lovely white stuff will stay to the north. I am not looking forward to getting my car stuck in some massive snowdrift.

At least with the holidays over, I can settle in and make some plans. I must get the house in some sort of reasonable condition and I really should get the air-conditioner covered so the cold air will stop rushing through.

Maybe we will get off lucky this year and the lovely white stuff will stay to the north.

"I'm going to go out and buy 17 electric heaters and place them in those places in my house where I spend time. My main concern will be to stay warm."

Winter is a good time for being at home. I don't go out much, so I spend more time with my family. Maybe I will open up that sewing machine which still serves as a lamp table.

Whatever I do with the cold days ahead, one thing is sure: I will move at a much slower pace until the warm days of spring cause me to be on the move again, after I thaw out.

Clockwise from above...

METROPOLITAN THEODOSIUS, former pastor of the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Church, Madison, returned in February to say a hierarchical liturgy as the leader of the Eastern Orthodox Church in North America.

HEADON CRASH at the underpass on Route 203 resulted in eight persons injured in mid-March. Rescue crews were called to free one of the drivers. Traffic was delayed nearly an hour.

THE THRILL OF VICTORY is seen on the face of GCHS South soccer player Dan Long as his team won the state soccer title for the third consecutive year in November.

CONTROVERSIAL PRIEST, the Reverend Edwin Arentsen, staged several confrontations with police outside the Hope Clinic for Women, beginning in January, to stress his anti-abortion stand.

DERAILMENTS plagued the area during the year. One involved six cars of an Illinois Central Gulf train loaded with coal just north of the 25th Street crossing along Nameoki Drive in early May.

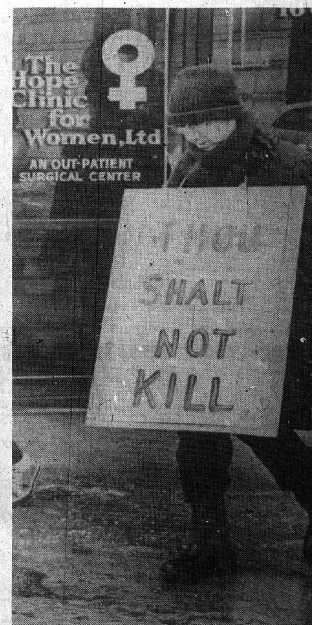

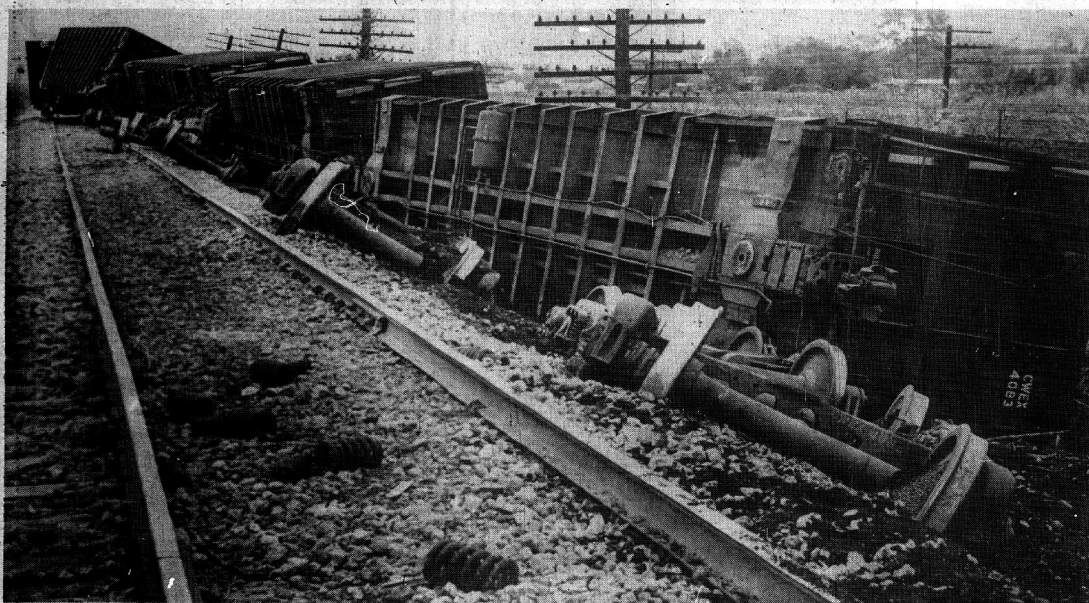

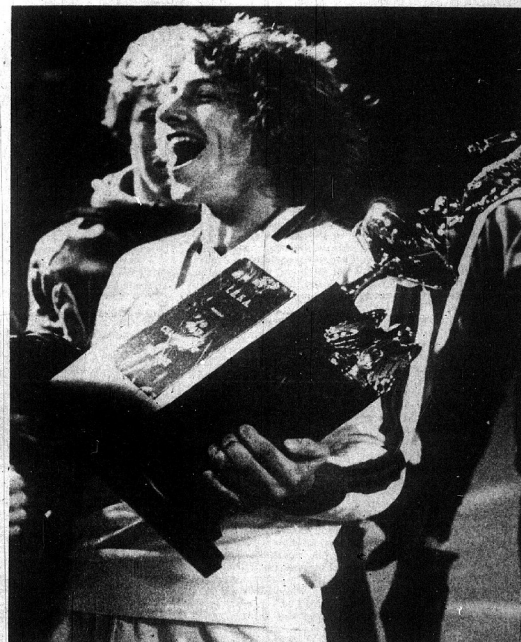

SHERIFF INDICTED. Madison County Sheriff John Maeras along with his chief of field operations John Cooper was indicted in November by a federal grand jury alleging racketeering and other crimes.

BARGE BACKUP early in 1978 was caused by the closing of the main 1,200-foot lock at Granite City Locks 27 for repairs, making the barges wait up to three days to clear the southern most lock on the Mississippi River.

State has helped make E. St. Louis a rich school system, but is mainly turning a deaf ear to Venice

With the old year — and a defeated tax referendum — in the past, Venice school officials early in the new year must come to grips with a worsening financial squeeze. Curiously, the Illinois Office of Education staff chose to play "Scrooge" during the holiday season.

The state study delved into a lot of background statistics that are of interest, and pinpointed a variety of financial options open to Community Unit School District Three. But basically it advised Venice to endure the pain, hope for the best, and further trim its already limited programs.

While doing a lot of talking but offering little or nothing to the Venice schools, state educators with the cooperation of Uncle Sam have made a similarly hard-pressed school system, East St. Louis, one of the richest in this region.

Millions of dollars regularly flow from Washington and Springfield to East St. Louis, which doesn't always use them for valid school purposes.

But evidently Venice's political clout isn't regarded as sufficiently powerful to justify an "special regard" for District Three. Politically-inclined East St. Louis meanwhile is the "squeaky wheel" that gets the state's federal monetary grease.

We present the state education staff's summary below, not in the belief that it is a solution, but so that Venice district residents will be aware of how the situation is seen at present, through the eyes of the Illinois Education Office.

"The 1979-80 fiscal year estimated cash deficit cannot be funded by means of first-year tax anticipation unless the equalized assessed valuation increases sufficiently to allow such funding. If this type of increase does not take place — it is likely that it won't — one or more of the following alternatives may be used to fund the fiscal year 1980 estimated cash deficit:

"1. Second-year tax anticipation. If the fiscal year 1981 budget is adopted and the 1980 tax levy filed, it may be possible to issue second-year tax warrants in order to fund the estimated cash deficit.

"2. Funding bonds.

"3. Reduction of expenditures — A thorough analysis of all expenditures should be conducted in order to insure the maximum benefit is derived from each dollar expended.

"Tax anticipation warrants, inter-fund loans, and teachers' orders are listed as possible solutions in temporarily eliminating the district's fiscal year 1979 estimated deficit.

"These are one form of borrowing and must be repaid. They in no way improve the district's financial position, but do allow the district to function, although it is in a weak financial condition.

"If the fiscal year 1980 disbursements — expenditures and receipts — revenues remain constant with respect to those anticipated in fiscal year 1979, each year the estimated deficit will be increased by the excess of disbursements — expenditures over revenues — revenues plus any increase of interest due on borrowed funds.

"Funding and working cash bonds differ from the aforementioned forms of borrowing in that the district actually receives 'new monies.' The term 'new monies' means that no increased stress is placed on the following fiscal year's receipts — revenues versus disbursements — expenditures, because the funds needed to retire these forms of borrowing are received through taxation in the bond and interest fund tax levy.

"If the financial position of the district does improve when these funds are received, because new sources of revenue are found.

"Extreme caution is warranted because a false sense of security in relation to the district's financial position could easily be developed. If disbursement — expenditures continue to exceed receipts — revenues, it is only a matter of time before the district will again be in a critical financial position.

"If the district chooses some form of deficit financing and adopt a balanced budget if it is to be in sound financial position."

Patricia McIlvoy, clinical supervisor, and Carol Grass, pediatric supervisor, all of the St. Elizabeth Hospital staff.

Saddest story of any year — abused children

It's always sad to see a child have to enter a hospital, but especially so if his injuries are the result of beatings by a parent.

Madison County has one of the highest reported child abuse rates in Illinois. To provide information on child abuse for nurses and other hospital employees, the first in a series of continuing education workshops was held at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City.

More than 50 nurses and associates of St. Elizabeth came to hear speakers address a variety of questions regarding child abuse.

Patricia McIlvoy, clinical supervisor at St. Elizabeth, said she was pleased by the capacity crowd which filled the hospital's Weisman Room.

In addition to Patricia McIlvoy, Carol Grass, pediatric supervisor, and Ralph Hausman, director of social services, helped organize the workshop.

Among the topics they and other speakers discussed were recognition of child abuse and neglect, child molestation, nursing care for abused children, and the legal aspects of child abuse.

After a welcome and introductory remarks by Patricia McIlvoy, Carol Grass spoke on recognition of child abuse symptoms. She presented a list of clues which may indicate potential child abuse in mothers with new infants.

Many times, she said, mothers who are potential abusers will not provide adequate foods, will not hold their children, will home them in uncomfortable positions, will not take note of their infant's development, and will often have poor relationships with other children.

Infants who have been neglected may show signs, too, she said.

Irregular sleeping patterns, prolonged crying, resisting food, apathy toward their environment, lack of smiling and resistance to being held may all be symptoms that a child has been neglected.

Ralph Hausman spoke about dealing with abused children and their parents in the hospital.

She said neglected and battered children who are brought to a hospital often are not old enough to describe how they received their injuries. Those old enough, she said, may be too frightened or ashamed to say anything.

To find examples of child abuse, hospital workers must look for subtle signs that all is not well between parent and child, she said. She discussed symptoms, including: children who cry hopelessly during treatment although they cry little in general, refusal to look at parents for assurance, becoming apprehensive when adults approach another crying child, constantly being on the alert for danger, and showing no expectations of being comforted.

Though their injuries may sometimes be severe, abused children many times wish to stay with their parents, even if they don't really have much of a relationship with them, she said.

No matter how bad their life may be at home, children would rather stay there than face an unknown situation somewhere else.

She cautioned, however, that these are generalizations and are not necessarily true all the time; in fact, they might not apply in some cases.

Other speakers at the workshop were Dr. Shih-Chung Chang, who spoke about problems regarding molested children; Don Zymula, of the Granite City office of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, who talked about community service agencies; and William Wasko of the Maryville office of Children and Family Services, who spoke about legal aspects of child abuse and neglect.

Cold weather this week may slow the completion of the new $2.75 million dry bulk loading facility at the Tri-City Regional Port, Carl Ranft, port manager, said this morning.

Ranft said the facility, which is being built by the Illinois Capital Development Board, has been in "shakedown" operations about one week and several "bugs" have been discovered which will have to be corrected before possession of the facility is turned over to the port district.

The main problem encountered has been in the barge puller, which holds the barges to the dock during loading operations. Surges from passing tows or from the locks opening have moved barges enough that the loading chutes miss the small loading doors allowing grain spills.

Other speakers are studying whether the pulling system can be modified, or whether it will have to be replaced. Currently, employees of Bulk Services Corp., which will operate the facility, are tying the barges to the dock with cables, which must be adjusted three to four times during each loading operation, causing delays which slow the loading.

When all problems are resolved, the facility is designed to load 750 tons of dry materials, such as grain, each hour. The Capital Development Board, which is loaning the construction funds to the port district, will not turn over ownership of the facility until problems have been resolved. A date for the official dedication then will be set.

"We are happy with progress thus far. Some problems are to be anticipated in a facility this size. You just don't build it, push the button and have it work properly," Ranft said.

"We ran two barges through consecutively last week to test for problems. Several minor problems were found in addition to the barge holder. Ice and the cold will hamper climbing around on the structure and making modifications, but we are confident they will be solved in the near future," he added.

When the facility is turned over to the port district, it will be leased to Bulk Services to operate.

Upper Level closed

The Upper Level Lounge, 19th and State streets, was closed Saturday night by order of Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, pending a hearing at 11 a.m. Friday in City Hall.

Schuler, acting as the city's liquor license commissioner, personally prepared the papers Friday which were served Saturday on Joseph Stemmer, who holds the liquor license for the lounge.

The papers order the lounge closed for seven days and, after the personal hearing, the lounge will be closed until the city and the citizens," Mayor Schuler said.

He noted police reports from a Wednesday night disturbance in which a knife and a gun allegedly were found among the patrons.

Friday morning, the first on whether the seven-day suspension was warranted, the status of the liquor license.

Schuler has the option of revoking the license of suspending it, both subject to review by the state liquor license commissioner and then by the courts. The mayor has announced he will not renew the lounge's license when it expires this spring.

Two held in shooting

F. James Carrigan, 54, of Cahokia, is in Centerville Township Hospital suffering a gunshot wound to his left leg after he was shot Thursday morning near Venice Homes.

Venice police said they are holding Zachary Jackson, 24, and Corean Burris, 18, both of St. Louis, on $300,000 bond after they were charged with armed violence and armed robbery.

Venice police received a phone call alleging an abduction and a shooting last night, but said they only found some blood near the housing project when they investigated.

Although the alleged robbery and shooting of Carrigan took place in Venice the pair were apprehended in Brooklyn and turned over to Venice police.

Venice officers are investigating a report that two other persons abducted by Pennypacker, 56, of 1049 Third St., Venice, while he was warming up his car and were taken to him to drive them to St. Louis.

Walkout ends at GC Steel

Approximately 140 electricians and control specialists who are members of United Steelworkers Local 68 at Granite City Steel ended a 36-hour walkout Friday morning.

Returned to their jobs on their regular shifts.

The walkout developed Wednesday afternoon when a spokesman at the plant confirmed that a walkout had occurred and that the workers returned Friday morning, but declined to discuss the issues involved. James Kellahan, business representative of the United Steelworkers, said the strikers agreed in a meeting at the Labor Temple early Friday to go back to work to clear the way for negotiation of the contract language concerning Christmas scheduling for maintenance work.

Kellahan said the walkout resulted from a difference of opinion on contract language involving work on Christmas eve and Christmas day. After the men left the job, the union spokesman said, the company attempted to negotiate the issue as long as the men were off work.

WOOD RIVER — The South Warriors' little guard, Jeff Vaughn, sank two free throws with 27 seconds remaining in the game to put the Warriors ahead, 81-79, in the title matchup with Decatur Lakeview. Lee Heubner tossed one in from the line with 15 seconds remaining on the clock to finalize the score at 82-79. South beat Roxana in the preliminaries 74-54, after being down 34-29 at halftime. In Friday night's contest with the Lakeview Wildcats, South had all five of their starters in double figures, with Jeff Parker taking top honors with 22 points followed by Jamie Blasingame with 18. Thursday night against Roxana, four of the starting five were in that class with Blasingame scoring 23 big points. Jeff Tretter had 16 in that contest. Only one Granite Cityan got named to the first all-tournament team — you guessed it, Blasingame. Blasingame totaled 56 points throughout the three game tourney. Eric Watson of Lovejoy, Mike Ellers of Southwestern, Jim Logan of Wood River, and Wayne Dunning of Decatur were all named to the first all-tourney team. To the second all-tourney team were: Jonas Bond of Decatur, Bruce Higgins of Wood River, Mike Kratschmer of Roxana, Dave Coddling of Wood River and David Seibers of Clinton, Tenn. The Most Valuable Player (MVP) of the tourney was Dunning of Decatur Lakeview. The judges decide those who receive these awards before the last game is played, therefore, the awards are based on the performances of the first two games. SOUTH-LAKEVIEW "We played with a great deal of intensity," said Don Deterding, coach of the Warriors. "We got behind late — but we came back. It was beautiful. The kids played super."

After leading throughout the entire game, the Warriors lost it late in the final quarter. South had a 65-60 lead going into the fourth. Their lead diminished to 75-73 with 3:46 on the clock. One minute later, Tom Stewart of Lakeview tied the score at 75 with a shot from five feet out center.

Eddie Taylor, of Lakeview, stole a Warrior pass, dribbled to his basket, and put the Wildcats on top for the first time in the contest with a layup, 77-75. Two minutes and 21 seconds remaining. All of that time was used. South missed their next shot and Dave Bond put the Wildcats ahead by four with a seven foot jumper. Blasingame got the Warrior machine rolling with a basket from underneath decreasing the deficit to two, 79-77.

The contest was tied after a big scramble in mid-court. Decatur had the ball, South stole it, then Taylor stole it, and then Heubner stole the basketball. Heubner passed to Vaughn who shot from seven to tie the score at 79. One minute remained.

Decatur had possession of the ball and called for one shot — meaning that they would waste most of the remaining time and shoot only once — leaving no time for the score to be tied.

While a Decatur pass was being passed, Vaughn got a hand on it. The ball bounced loose, Vaughn picked it up, and he was fouled by Jonas Bond. With 27 seconds in the game, Vaughn sank two and South was atop by two, 81-79.

Bond was awarded a free throw as he was fouled with three seconds on the clock. He missed the first one and Heubner got the rebound. A foul was called, but the clock showed no time. The fans ran out on the court — but the referees said that the horn did not go off and Heubner shot his free tosses. The first one went in and his coach (Deterding) yelled to him to miss the second one which he did, 82-79.

"I told him (Heubner) to miss that second shot because if he made it then Decatur would have a throw in and a possibility to tie the score," explained Coach Deterding. "By missing it, the clock starts immediately and with less than a second on it — the game is over."

"We have had our problems early after losing four straight, but these kids sucked up and came back."

SOUTH-ROXANA "It was our best game of the year. We saw our problem at halftime and we adjusted for it," said Coach Deterding as his squad was losing 34-29 going into the locker room and came back big to win by twenty, 74-54.

"We were using a full court press and couldn't get back in time to stop the outside shots which were killing us in the first half. In the second half we dropped back to the half-court press and put a hand in their faces when they tried to shoot — it worked," said Deterding.

Blasingame showed to all why he is starting. At halftime he had only five points and South only had 29. In the second half, Blasingame got 18 more to top all performances. The four other Warriors together put 27 to his 18 in the last half to total South at 45 in the half and 74 in the contest.

Of the two years of the tournament's existence, Granite-South won it both times. Here is another interesting bit of trivia — South has played six games in two tourneys and won all six, but of their four regular games, South had won none. When informed of this and asked about it, Coach Deterding said only "there's nothing to it." Well maybe he's right.

South averaged 74 points a game at the tourney scoring 65, 74, 82 respectively in the games against Lovejoy, Roxana and Decatur Lakeview. This Friday night, the Warriors travel to St. Jacob Triad for an 8 p.m. battle and then host Cahokia on Saturday at 8 p.m.

'Heard-less' Trojans fourth at Mater Dei

By PETE HAYES
and KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
BREES — Madison basketball coach Larry Graham had no doubt in his mind. He knew what had gone wrong with his club's performance in the Brees Mater Dei Holiday Tournament. Two things. 1) The Trojans lost two games, and 2) Jamie Heard was absent from the Madison lineup the entire tournament. According to Graham, the two were very closely tied together. "No doubt in my mind," said Graham. "We'd have won the whole thing with Heard." But alas, "was not to be. Without the all-star (out because of a disciplinary action at the school), the Trojans lost to defending state champion Nashville 66-56 in the semifinals Friday night and fell in the third-place game to top-seeded Chatham-Glenwood 72-70. Nashville went on to win the tournament championship with a victory over St. Paul of Highland in the title tilt. Saturday night against Chatham-Glenwood, Madison appeared to have the game well in hand midway through the second quarter. The Trojans had out-hustled and out-played the Redskins and had built up a commanding 21 point lead with three minutes left before the half.

Then the proverbial roof fell in on Madison. "We just let up," said Graham. "We must have looked up at the scoreboard and got a little complacent with ourselves."

What all that amounted to was a much narrower eight point lead for the Trojans at halftime. They had allowed the Redskins to make up 13 points in less than three minutes. It would prove to be fatal later. The halftime score was 38-30.

During that first half, the Trojans were in total control, batting away the Redskins' attempts to pass the ball inside to their tall (6'7") center, Bill Chapin.

But as soon as the third period started, it was evident that Madison had lost the momentum. In fact, the Trojans were bothered by a Chatham-Glenwood full-court press that hadn't bothered them in the first half. "Can you imagine that?" laughed Graham, "us bothered by their press."

"I don't know what happened, but we just sort of fell apart there in that third quarter."

The Trojans fell apart so much in that third period they were outscored by Chatham-Glenwood 24-10. They never recovered, even though it appeared late in the game that they might.

With Kenny Stanley suddenly getting hot from the floor, Madison climbed from out of the game right back into things. Trailing 63-58, the Trojans rallied behind Stanley's hot-hand to get within 65-64 with 3:16 remaining in the game.

With 2:54 showing on the clock, Stanley was fouled by Glenwood's Gary Albert after hitting a basket from about ten feet out. He made the free throw and Madison had re-claimed the lead 67-65. It was short-lived.

Albert made up for his mistake by making six straight one-and-one free throws down the stretch and help Chatham-Glenwood reclaim the lead for itself.

But with three seconds left and Glenwood leading 74-72, Madison still had a chance to pull the game out of the fire — albeit a slim chance.

Stanley went up for a shot from 10 feet out that bounced no good off the rim and out of bounds off a Trojan.

But when the Redskins tried to in-bound the ball, they were called for not doing it within the five seconds allowed and the ball was given back to the Trojans.

Three seconds. Just enough for one shot to tie the score.

Sophomore Trojan Morris Hughes got the inbound pass and lofted a shot from about ten feet away on the right baseline. It hit the rim, bounced high in the air and harmlessly away. The game was over.

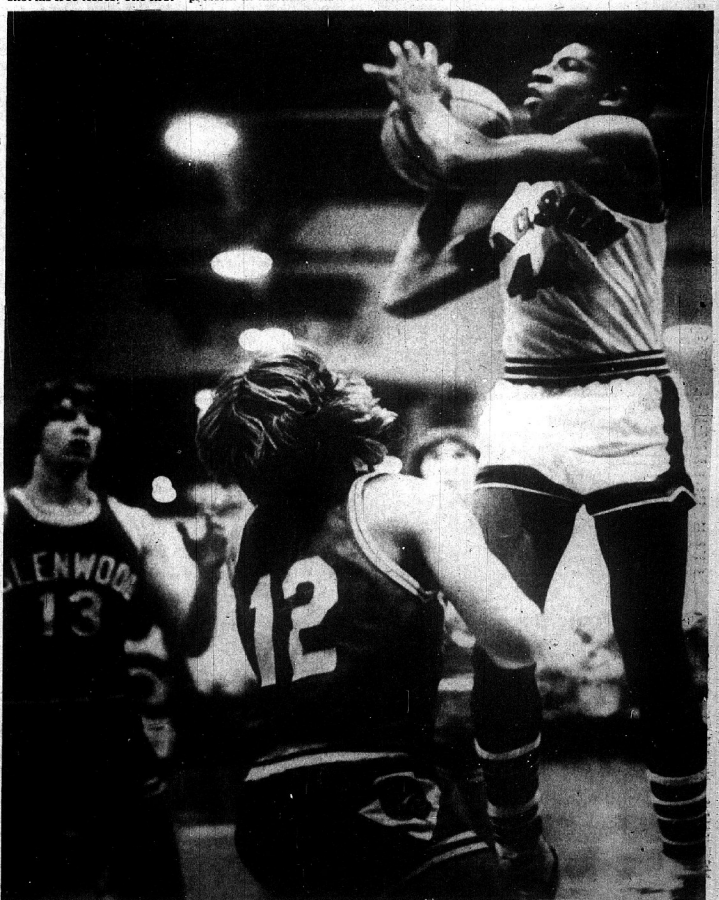

MADISON-NASHVILLE The semi-final match Friday, was a classic basketball confrontation of Nashville's physical height and offensive prowess against Madison's hustling defense.

In the end, Nashville's lofty forward wall, comprised of a pair of 6'7" pillars in Roger Stieg and John Jankowski, came out on top, but just barely, 68-56.

Despite the obvious contrast in styles of the two teams, neither could build enough of a lead for breathing room. After an early Madison bulge of seven, the team on top was never ahead by more than four. It was that close.

Madison threatened to pull away midway through the fourth quarter. Ahead by three when Trojan Carlyn Jackson sunk the free throw awarded him after Stieg

LAST-SECOND SHOT. Madison's Morris Hughes (44) puts up a last second shot Saturday night against Chatham-Glenwood in the third place game of the Brees Mater Dei Christmas Tournament. However, Hughes' shot missed and the Trojans dropped 74-72 decision to the Redskins. Defending for Chatham-Glenwood are Mike Moomey (12) and Kevin Hueman (13).

Warrior grapplers win 10th holiday tourney

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City South Warrior wrestlers successfully defended their championship of the South Holiday Wrestling Tournament Friday night by edging Pekin 208-202 for the title. The Warriors were again led by the Perkins brothers, Sam and Dean. It was their (South's) fifth championship in the last six years and overall. It was the 19th annual tournament.

Sam Perkins won the 138-pound division while brother Dean laid claim to the championship of the 145-pound weight class.

Granite City North finished a strong fifth with 142½ points. At one point in the Friday afternoon session, North trailed first-place South 104-102.

The Steeler grapplers had one champion, 28-pounder Gerald Miller. In the 138-pound title bout, Sam Perkins needed an overtime to seek out a 5-2 decision over Jeff McCuen of Bloomington 5-2. It was the second bout between Perkins and McCuen. The South grappler had earlier banished McCuen to the loser's bracket in the second round. McCuen had made the trip to the finals via the wrestle-back route.

Dean Perkins defeated Belleville East's Hank Sullivan 5-3 in the championship bout of the 145-pound division. In Miller's 98-pound title bout, he downed another Belleville East wrestler, Mike Geller, 15-4.

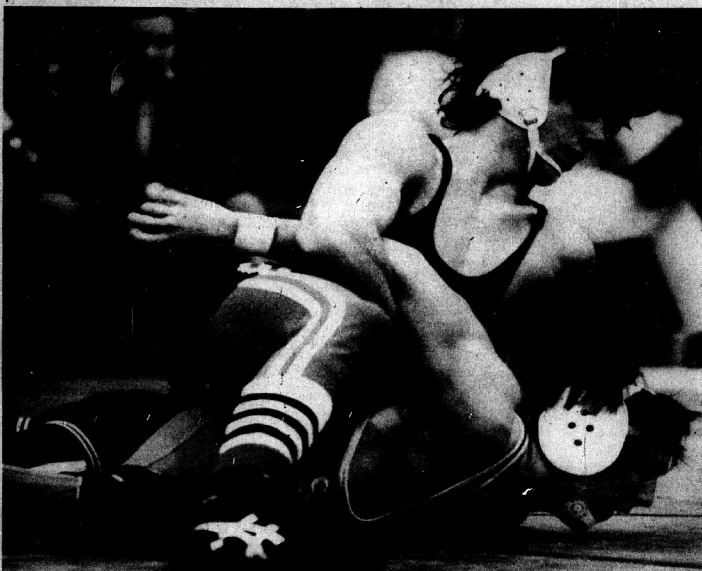

North's Bob Kirgan finished second in the 112-pound division, falling to Hazelwood Central's Perry Byrd 14-10 in the final.

South's Don King finished as the runner-up at the 185-pound division, falling to Dale Skrekenberg of Cahokia 11-6 in the title bout. Warrior grappler Ron Cline was pinned in his championship bout by Hazelwood Central's Matt Galucia in 2:37. South wrestlers who finished third were Greg Garland at 105 pounds, Barry Forshee at 126 and Rocky Lupardus at 119.

Tough Riverview Gardens placed third as a team with 164½ points. Cahokia was fourth with 150½.

The second-place finishing Pekin squad had no first places. Instead, it relied on a strong overall performance.

Tale of two cities... Devils second at Freeburg

By PETE HAYES and KEVIN ALLEN of the Press-Record

FREEBURG — Ken Perkins said it best. "This is the best Christmas present the team could have given me."

What the Venice head basketball coach was referring to was the championship game of the Freeburg Holiday Tournament. Perkins' Red Devils did indeed advance to the title tilt by downing first heavily-favored Lebanon by one in the opening round, defeating out-manned Courtville in the quarterfinals, then beating third-seeded Chester in the semifinals.

But the clock struck midnight just a bit too soon for Perkins and his squad. With the Devils probably feeling more like charwomen than princesses, the Cinderella story of Venice came to an abrupt end here Friday night when it dropped a 76-60 decision to top-seeded and undefeated New Athens in the championship game.

But Venice didn't go down without a fight. Far from it.

In fact, with just over two minutes remaining in the third quarter, the Yellowjackets clung to a narrow 44-43 lead. It was at that point that Red Devil Wendell McIntyre, coming off the bench, rejected a Dale Jansen shot.

But instead of going out of bounds, the ball stayed in play and was picked up by Jansen, who went right back to work against McIntyre. That's where his experience showed. Jansen was fouled as he went in for a layup (which was also good) and made a three-point play. New Athens never looked back.

The Cinderella Red Devils came into the tourney with an 0-6 record, thus weren't given much of a shot at doing anything in it much more than clean out the locker rooms after the games. But Perkins' crew showed much more strength than expected and walked into the championship game. Its record is now 3-7 against tough competition. The New Athens club stands at 9-0.

The game started out in what had become typical Venice tournament fashion. The Devils controlled much of the action and seemed as if they were ready to blow out the favored club. But New Athens then showed its main strength and why it was seeded number one.

Discipline. "Man oh man," said Perkins. "They (New Athens) are the most well-disciplined team we've seen. "Our guys just ran out of gas against them. They were us down."

"It's hard to come into a tournament 0-6 and knock off the number one, two and three seeds. We accomplished two of them, but all three is a tall order."

The Yellowjackets began to open a lead that at one point in the second quarter extended to eight points. But Venice never quit. In fact, the Devils managed — mostly on the strength of the hot shooting hand of Donald Gardner — come back and claim a 32-31 lead with just over a minute remaining in the first half.

Perkins blamed some of the reason for the championship game loss on the way the teams were seeded for games. "It just happened to work out that we had three tough games and they didn't have any tough games coming into it," he said. "I think they were less tired than us."

But Perkins wasn't disheartened. "Oh, we never like to lose," he said. "But look at it realistically. Nobody even expected us to be here. We've got to take it a little at a time."

Perkins then glanced across the locker room to the second place trophy that sat on the dingy floor. "That's the first hardware we've added to our trophy case in a long time."

The last was in 1975, it read, "Class A State Tournament. First place."

VENICE-CHESTER Venice earlier advanced to the finals of the Freeburg-Columbia Holiday 3 Basketball Tournament Thursday night with a 65-62 win over Chester.

Venice started fast, and looked early as if it might run away. At the end of the first quarter, The Red Devils had a 24-11 lead.

In the second quarter Venice ran into foul trouble and their shooting fell off drastically. Not until half-way through the period, did they score for the first time, making it 26-15. It scored for the second time in the quarter with about two minutes left, and in all added only seven points during the period. The score at the half was 31-25.

A Venice, which had been hitting on shots from the outside earlier in the game, saw the same shots miss in the second period. "Everytime someone takes an outside shot, he knows when he's doing something wrong," said Perkins. "They just think that their good shooters and they have to start falling in sometime."

In the fourth quarter, Chester began a slow charge at the Red Devils which nearly succeeded in pulling the Yellowjackets out of the fire. With a little less than two minutes remaining in the game, Venice's lead had been cut to 44-43. Chester's Scott Bridges, who led the Yellowjackets with 22 points on the night, brought his team within four about 40 seconds on the clock.

Devil Donald Gardner was named to the all-tournament team and was second in the voting for Most Valuable Player in the tourney.

North ousted by Sparta

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor

BREESE — Bill Ohlendorf has run out of explanations. Ohlendorf watched here last Thursday as his Granite City North Steelers were ousted from their first Mater Del Holiday Tournament by low Sparta 60-54. "I've run out of answers," he said. "I've been coaching for 18 years, and this is the first time I don't know what the answer is."

"Oh, sometimes I've known what the problem was and still not been able to do anything about it," he added. "But I don't even know that much."

Not exactly the quotes you'd expect from a happy coach, are they? That's because Ohlendorf was far from pleased with his team's performance.

North dropped its seventh game in seven starts, but didn't give credit to Sparta. "Most of it goes to North," he said.

The Steelers were presented with so many chances to win the game, it seemed like a late Christmas present. Sparta committed turnovers, shot air balls and made stupid fouls. But alas, North could not pull away.

"We weren't hitting the boards, we weren't hustling, we weren't taking advantage of their mistakes," said Ohlendorf. "I guess a combination of all those things resulted in just another loss."

North's inability to snare crucial rebounds late in the game cost the Steelers dearly. With just over two minutes remaining in the game and the score 49-48 in favor of Sparta, Bulldog Jeff Downs (15) hit a layup, giving an air-ball. Almost, but not quite.

Instead of falling directly into a waiting Sparta trap, the ball barely ticked the front of the rim. Just enough to send it into a crowd of players underneath the basket.

Amos, standing just 5'4", rebounded the ball. In fact, North can't blame a height disadvantage on the fact that it didn't rebound well. Sparta's tallest player, Scott Polson, is 6'2".

"We just put forth a poor effort," said Ohlendorf. "It seems as though we're just going through the motions."

Trojans

committed his fifth foul and left the game, the Trojans would have gone ahead by five if they hadn't missed conversions on a pass under the basket.

"If we could have gone five up, we could have turned it around," said Graham.

But the game continued in the same manner as earlier, with both teams trading two to their point leads back and forth all the way to the end of the momentum switches sides with every basket scored. Even without the talents of one of the towers, Stieg, Nashville managed to play tough inside.

The other tower, Jankowski kept the Hornets close and finally put them ahead. He drove to the basket to tie the score at 53 apiece with about less than two minutes left, then put his team ahead with a tip in of Roger Bockez shot, making it 57-53.

When Madison's Eric Stanley sunk two free throws, it brought the Trojans within two at 57-55.

With less than a minute to go, Nashville got the ball and went into a stall. The Hornets' Randy Ruggles held the ball to long, however, and was called for a jump ball. The tip went to Madison's Eric Stanley who was fouled by Mike Pries of the Hornets.

Stanley made the first of his two free throws making the score 57-56.

Nashville had the ball with 16 seconds left. A foul by Madison's Tyrone Echols on a shot resulted in two free throw points and 59-56 Nashville lead. Although nine seconds remained, the Trojans couldn't get any closer.

Although Madison jumped to an early lead, Nashville quickly pulled even because of costly Trojan fouls. At the end of the first period the score was tied 16-16.

"We had to make some adjustments to the officiating at halftime," said Graham.

In fact adjustments hurt the Trojans all night.

Graham praised Head's replacement, Ricky Powers. Powers is starting to come along. In some ways losing Head will make us a better team. It forces Powers to take up the slack."

Two players who helped keep North in the game in the third period (and give them short-lived leads) were guards Dennis Page and Greg Luehmann.

Page warned up his shooting arm in the second half and pumped in 22 points. But it was Luehmann who provided the sparks. The Steelers needed. He hit four straight bombs from near the top of the key late in the third period and early in the fourth. It was his last basket that gave North its last lead of the game, 43-41.

North began to move better away from the ball in the third period and was going to the basket with more intensity. But as suddenly as the turnaround had occurred, it reversed itself. North began to commit fouls in an attempt to increase the lead, and it was free throws which kept Sparta alive.

"We had our chances," said Ohlendorf. "But we just couldn't capitalize on them."

By the time the midway point of the fourth quarter rolled around, it became necessary for North to foul in an effort to get the ball. ... or at least the Steelers seemed to think so.

All that hacking accomplished, however, was the fouling-out of two North players, Russ Chappell at the 2:18 mark and Greco with 28 seconds left.

How does a team re-group after a showing like this? "I don't know yet," said a disheartened Ohlendorf.

"We have to work on our turnovers, try to put this out of our minds and try to get our heads together."

North will try for its first win next Friday night at some place against Belleville. Although, which won its first game of the season Thursday over Shelbyville in the Charleston Holiday Tournament at Eastern Illinois University.

Fighting nasal drip

Post nasal drip is a commonplace term for a relatively common physical condition which annoys many persons. Quite often its effects are encountered during the night or early in the morning. A sleeper moves and changes positions. He or she coughs, perhaps even retches, and spits up mucus. Some of the basic causes of post nasal drip are allergic reactions, irritants in the air, changes in barometric pressure, chemical or physical damage to the membranes, deformities of the airways, and individual responses to such conditions as climate, altitude and humidity. The single most common cause of post nasal drip and its resulting sinusitis most likely is tobacco smoke.

The American Medical Association points out that at the root of the problem are abnormal secretions in the upper throat, the nasopharynx. One of the functions of the nasopharynx is to warm and moisten air drawn into the lungs through the nose, and to catch dust and bacteria on its moist surface.

To maintain moisture, the nasal passageways normally produce rather copious quantities of the two types of secretions—a watery, loose secretion, and a thicker mucus. When an oversupply of these secretions accumulates in the upper throat, the result is post nasal drip.

Medications can restore normal function temporarily, but the main cases. Deformities of the airways can be corrected by surgery. Gargling is ineffective, because it reaches only the front of the oral cavity, and the secretions causing the trouble are in the rear.

Ski safely, it says here

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

Each season of the year has its own kind of pleasure, and snow skiing is becoming one of the most popular winter pleasures.

As more and more people "head for the slopes," however, the number of injuries associated with skiing also increases. In fact, last year, nearly 100,000 persons were injured seriously enough to require treatment in hospital emergency rooms.

Even though beginners have more accidents than do veteran skiers, experience alone will not prevent accidents.

The Illinois Department of Public Health has some suggestions that may help avoid a ski injury this winter.

The fit of the boots is very important. If your boots are too large, your feet can slip forward and back and reduce your ability to control the skis. If your boots are too tight, they can restrict circulation and cause frostbite.

Beginning skiers should use soft, low boots rather than the stiff boots often preferred by experts.

While the stiff boots offer more stability and greater protection for the ankle, they can cause severe leg injuries in a fall.

Take special care with the fitting of children's boots. Don't yield to the temptation to economize by buying boots too large for them, because they can wear extra socks until their feet grow to fit.

The binding is probably the most critical part of skiing gear. If you lose control, the binding must release you from the skis before you suffer a serious injury.

At the same time, the binding should not release too easily, causing you to fall unnecessarily.

If your ski boot is not compatible with the binding, it can interfere with the proper operation of the binding. To avoid a mismatch, purchase bindings at a reputable ski shop, and take your boots with you when you do.

The shop's ski mechanic will mount the bindings and will check boot-ski compatibility.

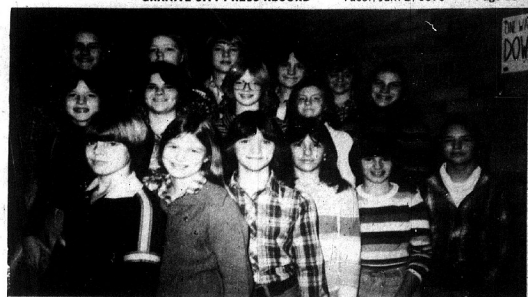

Skis should be marked for each foot and should not be interchanged. Binding that matches the right boot may not match the left one.

When you ski, wear warm, close-fitting clothing. Loose clothing can become entangled in lifts, tow ropes and ski poles.

Do not ski beyond your ability. The slopes at most ski areas are clearly marked according to their difficulty. And do not stop in the middle of a slope.

After a fall, fill in any depressions (sitzmarks) made in the snow by your body or equipment. Holes or bumps are hazardous to skiers who follow you down the slopes.

If you follow these suggestions while enjoying the ski slopes this winter, you'll have your chance of serious injury and increase your winter pleasure.

Extend filing deadline on circuit breaker aid

Elderly and disabled homeowners and renters will be able to apply for 1976 circuit breaker benefits through April 2, according to Michael Kerr, deputy director of the State Department of Revenue. Gov. James Thompson on Dec. 22 certified legislation that provides the extension. A mistake on the printed forms for the 1976 benefit year confused potential applicants for circuit breaker relief so that they did not apply.

Legislation passed this spring set the groundwork for the new extension of time in which to apply for the relief.

The legislation affects circuit breaker payments for taxes collected in 1977 for the 1976 tax year and for rents paid in 1976 by eligible Illinois residents.

The new law provides an extension of the deadline to March 31. Since that date falls on a Saturday, the department will accept any applications carrying a postmark as late as April 2, Kerr said.

The deadline extension does not apply to benefits for 1977. Deadline for applying for circuit breaker benefits for 1977 was Dec. 31, which was a Sunday. Applications postmarked through Jan. 2 will be accepted, he said.

The 1977 deadline applies to applications for circuit breaker benefits based on rent paid in 1977 or on 1977 taxes, which were collected during 1978.

The new benefit year began Jan. 1. Persons who received circuit breaker benefits last year will receive a booklet explaining the program and how to apply in 1979, Kerr said.

The circuit breaker is available to property owners or renters who are 65 years old or older or who are disabled. Their household income must be under $10,000 a year.

Legislation to expand the program by improving the benefits and increasing the maximum eligible income failed when the legislature and governor could not agree on any of the measures under consideration.

Discuss new election laws

Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles was in Springfield last week to discuss key election issues with members of the State Board of Elections Advisory Committee of which she is a member.

Miss Bowles, who is second vice-president of the Illinois Association of County Clerks and Records, said the advisory committee discussed with Board of Elections officials ways of improving the speed and accuracy of reporting election returns on election nights.

She said the group also held preliminary discussions of election legislation that will be considered in the Illinois General Assembly next spring, including technical proposals dealing with absentee voting and conformity with new federal legislation.

Another topic was the new election-consolidation law that becomes effective Dec. 1, 1980, and drastically changes administration of Illinois elections.

A subsequent meeting of the advisory committee was scheduled for Feb. 13 for a final discussion of the 1979 legislative program in the elections field.

Scuba divers double as helpers to Santa

Three members of the Bubblemasters' Scuba Diving Club of Granite City played Santa's elves during last December and delivered baskets of food and material toys to six families in the Madison and Granite City area.

Dec. Adams, club president, said Larry Earny, Dale Orr and Paul Foster were responsible for purchasing the holiday food items, with special assistance from Schermer's Market in Madison.

The trio then delivered the Christmas gifts to the recipients, among whom were 18 children, making the rounds in two pickup trucks.

Funds for the benefit project were derived at the club's Labor Day weekend diving meet when an auction of donated items is held annually.

Divers and guests attending bid various amounts, knowing the proceeds will be used to help families in need. This is the eighth year Bubblemasters have delivered the yuletide gifts of food and toys during the Christmas season.

Arrest 2 in parking lot

Granite City police broke up a disturbance in the parking lot of Jack-in-the-Box Restaurant, 3300 Nameoki Road, last week after finding about seven youths pushing and shoving each other, one holding half of a pool cue.

Everyone was ordered to return to his car and police alleged finding open beer in one auto. Timothy Brodeur, 18, of 2921 Birch Ave., and David P. Krause, 19, of 2925 Dale Ave., were charged with illegal transportation of liquor.

Police alleged the two refused orders to get in their auto and Brodeur tried to walk away while calling officers names in a loud voice. They were then arrested.

Telephone excise tax to decrease

There will be another reason to celebrate the new year.

The federal excise tax on telephone service dropped from its present four percent rate to three percent on Jan. 1, 1979. This is a further step in the gradual phase-out of the tax, which is being reduced one percentage point per year and will cease to apply after 1981.

Congress first imposed the excise tax on a limited basis during World War I.

Although repealed briefly after the war, it was reinstated during the depression years of the 1930s and has continued since then on a more extensive basis.

During the 1940s and 1950s, the rate was as high as 15 percent on local service and 25 percent on long distance telephone service.

From the mid-1950s until 1972, it was 10 percent on most local and long distance services.

In 1973, and each subsequent year, the rate has been reduced by one percentage point.

To decide candidacy

Donald Patrick of Pontoon Beach has pledged he will announce tonight whether he will run for president of the Pontoon Beach Village Board on a ticket being prepared by the Patrick for Progress in Pontoon Beach Committee.

A wine and cheese party is set for 8:30 p.m. today at Frank's D-A-P Restaurant, 4066 Gaslight Walk, Pontoon Beach, which will be free and open to the public. Patrick has said he will not announce his decision until that time.

A spokesman for the committee said a full slate of candidates will be announced at the party, whether or not Patrick agrees to run for president.

Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there.
